ILOKANO – ENGLISH

DICTIONARY

TO: The Student of Ilokano;

This English – Ilokano, Ilokano – English Dictionary was prepared by a returned Peace Corps Volunteer, Daniel Wieczorek, in the hopes that it may make your task of learning Ilokano just a little bit easier than it would otherwise be. The words and terms included are those that I had reason to learn in my two years as a Volunteer. I lived and worked in Gomez, Cabbaroguis, Quirino. There was absolutely no English spoken in my barrio and for this reason I had to become as fluent as I could as rapidly as I could if I wanted to be able to converse and be helpful. I had a very good friend who was very patient in explaining new Ilokano terms to me. He helped me right from the start, so when he introduced a new word he would explain it's meaning in terms that I already knew.

The first part of this Dictionary is the English – Ilokano portion. You will need to glance briefly at it to see how it is set up. For example; all animals and animal actions are listed under "ANIMALS." All references to birds and bird actions are listed under "BIRDS", all body parts are listed under the heading "BODY & BODY PARTS", and so on. Therefore if you are searching for the Ilokano for the word "head" you will look under the entry "BODY & BODY PARTS" for "BODY – HEAD".

In the Ilokano – English Dictionary the "root words" are underlined. Root words are defined as the word base with no verbal or other affixes¹. If you want or need any more information on the Ilokano for a word the root word is what you would look up in your other dictionary. In cases such as "A LA UNA" the underline under UNA indicates that the entire expression "A LA UNA" can be found in the referenced dictionary under UNA. For an entry such as "ADDA KADI SURAT PARA KANIAK?" the underlines indicate that several individual words may be found in the referenced dictionary, but not the entire term. An entry such as "AGPAKLEB (KELLEB)" indicates that the root word for the verb "agpakleb" is kelleb. Note the preponderance of "AG" verbs.

Scientific names are given for most fruits, plants, and trees. These scientific names are also from the referenced dictionary.

I have tried to use examples of most common affixes such as "KA.....EN" for superlatives, "MAKA....." indicating an active possibility, "MAKI....." the social affix, "MAIKA....." for numbers, and so on. The "NA" affix usually indicates an adjective, however it may also indicate a past tense usage of an intransitive "MA...." verb.

¹ Root Words are from the: ILOKO - ENGLISH DICTIONARY, translated, augmented and revised by Morice Vanoverbergh, C.I.C.M., 1956. This dictionary is available from the "Bishop's House" in Baguio City.

One particular entry I want to call attention to is “Q., CERTAINLY, WHY NOT?”, for which the Ilokano is “HAAN, MAN.” It is usually used to answer a negative question, for example you might ask your Ilokano friend “Maybe you don't want to go to town with me?” and your friend will answer “HAAN, MAN.” You would literally interpret this as “NO, PLEASE” when in reality your friend is answering “CERTAINLY, WHY NOT?”

Some non-underlined entries can also be found in the referenced dictionary, but with a different meaning. For example, the root word of “MATONGPAL” which is “TONGPAL” is in the referenced dictionary, but the printed definition is exactly the opposite of how “MATONGPAL” was explained to me. This may be an error on my part or it may be an error of the referenced dictionary.

I have strong hopes that this dictionary, my work, will make your work easier. Good Luck and Happy Studying.

One last comment, this dictionary was prepared from a DBASE III+ database. It was sorted (alphabetized) once on the Ilokano, and once on the English, and therefore the entries for both dictionaries are exactly identical, they are merely in a different order.
